Preface

As the ZEUS workshop series continues in providing a forum for young researchers to present and discuss their early ideas and work in progress centered around service technology and business process management, we were happy to host the seventh edition of the Central European Workshop on Services and their Composition (ZEUS) in Jena. For this years edition, we selected 11 submissions for the workshop program. Each submission went through a thorough peer-review process and was evaluated by at least three members of the program committee with respect to relevance and scientific quality. Accepted contributions covered topics in compilation of business processes, human-centered process design and execution, cloud-enabled applications, and process security. We would like to thank all authors and reviewers for their contributions and efforts. Finally, a special thank goes to Stefanie Rinderle-Ma (Workflow Systems and Technology Group, Vienna University) for completing the workshop program by an inspiring keynote on “Change and Compliance in Cross-Organizational Process Scenarios”.
