The International Conference on Software Business (ICSOB) is a conference devoted to discussing software-intensive businesses in different ways uniting different viewpoints and disciplines. In 2022, ICSOB organized a Poster Track, which took place during the conference at the Free University of Bozen-Bolzano in Italy. In total, five research project posters were submitted by scholars from USA, Finland, Germany and Italy. Each submission included a poster for a presentation in Bozen and an extended abstract of up to four pages to describe the topic. Each submission was evaluated by two members of the Post Track committee. The five submissions were accepted by providing high-quality early and mid-stage projects covering timely topics such as edge architectures, quantum computing, business model development, model-driven design in education and startups. During the poster session the author team representatives received feedback from the scientific audience. We are grateful to the members of the ICSOB Organizing Committee who helped us in the organisation of the conference and to all the members of the Poster Track program committee.
